DAVIS CUP STAYS IN AUSTRALIA.

Wright Wins, but Alexander Loses in the Finals.

It Was Necessary for Americans to Take Both Contests.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 30.—The Australian players today won the Davis cup, finally defeating Messrs. Wright and Alexander, the American contenders.

When the contest was resumed today there were two singles to be played, and it was necessary, because of previous results, for the Americans to win both in order to bring the cup to this country. This they failed to do.

The single matches were played today. The first was between Norman Brookes, Australia, and Beals C. Wright, America, and the second between A. F. Wilding, Australia, and F. B. Alexander, America. Brookes lost to Wright, but Wilding beat Alexander. It was necessary for the Americans to win both these contests to take the cup back to the United States, the famous trophy will remain here.

There was a difference of opinion between Wright Brookes and Wilding as to the proper judgment in placing balls, and the score was 5-0. The match between Brookes and Wright also went to Brookes, 6-3. This was a hard fight, and resulting as it did in a victory for the American, source of considerable anxiety to Brookes' friends. Wright's service and volleying were remarkable, and he won, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. The final set was played with the utmost vigor. The final set

COURT UPHOLDS RAILROAD ORDER.

Virginia Passenger Rate Decision Reversed.

Roads Failed to Exhaust Their Rights in States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Supreme Court of the United States today reversed the decision of the United States circuit court for the Eastern district of Virginia holding to be unconstitutional the order of the state railroad commission fixing a two-cent passenger rate on state business, the effect being to uphold the order. The opinion of the court was announced by Justice Holmes.

The case came before the court on an appeal of the state from the decision of Judge Pritchard of the United States circuit for the Eastern district of Virginia, holding the proceeding by which the rate was fixed to be unconstitutional, and prohibiting the carrying of the order into effect.

The rate was named by the commission in accordance with authority bestowed by the Virginia constitution, but the order had no sooner been announced than the railroads of the state began an action in the circuit court in which they prayed for an injunction against the enforcement of the decree. The application was based on the ground that the present rate of the companies are reasonable and not discriminatory, as between either individuals or localities. The roads contended that the effect of the rate proposed would be to reduce charges below a compensatory and just compensation—that, indeed, the order was confiscatory.

Archbold Tells Why the Oil Trust Was Formed.

Details Standard's Assets at Time of Agreement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil Company, resumed his testimony when the hearings in the government suit to dissolve the corporation were resumed here today. It was expected that the government counsel would press Mr. Archbold more closely than they did Mr. Rockefeller during his testimony, but counsel for the defense will endeavor to insure that matters not touched upon by the witness during his examination in chief are not brought out in cross-examination. The most interesting and important part of his testimony, it was predicted, would be that which pertained to the formation of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio in 1882, at Cleveland.

Resuming his testimony, Mr. Archbold was questioned about the Vilas, Keith & Chester agreement of 1879. Mr. Archbold told of the signers of the agreement and of the property held by certain individuals for the benefit of the stockholders of the Standard. All properties obtained were held by the trustees after the agreement had been made. Mr. Archbold said the agreement was made as a simple method of holding property in the interest of a common ownership.

Mr. Archbold told of the trust agreement of 1882, and said that all the shareholders of the Standard and the beneficiaries of the Vilas, Keith & Chester agreement signed the agreement. Mr. Archbold said that 20 trust certificates were issued for each single share of Standard Oil Company stock. "The capital stock of the Standard was $3,500,000," said Mr. Archbold, "but the plants and property were valued at $70,000,000." Mr. Archbold described in detail the inventory of the Standard's plants, property and all assets.

At the time of the agreement all plants, generally speaking, after 1882, said Mr. Archbold, were acquired for cash.

Mr. Archbold then gave the reason for the formation of the Standard Oil Trust, saying: "It was done as a simple and effective form of holding the property. We were advised by counsel that neither the Standard Oil Company of Ohio nor any other corporation could effectually, or safely, perhaps, hold the property, which was widespread in many states, whose laws were restrictive of the rights of corporations. The trusteeship was suggested as a simple method of bringing together the property and form a token of ownership which would have a market value and enable the owners to have a more effective administration."

The vice president of the Standard told in detail of the organization and purposes of many minor subsidiary companies which were parties to the 1882 agreement, and of the subsequent liquidation and disposition of these companies. The various properties of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio which were turned into the trust were enumerated by Standard interests, and which were parties to the agreement of 1882, were described.

A recess was then taken.

Liquor Law Affects Some of Providence's Oldest Saloons.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 30.—One hundred and fifty-three saloons will close their doors tonight for the last time under the new liquor law. The law which makes his sweeping change in the liquor traffic of the city was passed by the General Assembly last year. It provides that there shall be but one saloon to every 500 people. The application is especially confined to the downtown business section of Providence, and some of the oldest and most prominent saloons are prominent of business.

Over cities in the state are also affected by the new law. In Pawtucket 22 will be closed, 32 in Central Falls and 17 in Pawtuxet.

A PATRIOTIC UTTERANCE.

Secretary Root Much Pleased with Woodruff's Announcement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Root was President Roosevelt's first caller today. Asked whether he had anything to say regarding the announcement from Hot Springs of Timothy L. Woodruff, that he would not be a candidate for the New York lieutenant-governorship, the Secretary said he had not seen the statement and was much pleased with the announcement, declaring that it was a patriotic utterance.

MARIANNA MINES YIELDING UP DEAD.

Over 100 Bodies Recovered; Others in Fragments.

It Is Thought Pittsburg Victims Will Not Exceed 130.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—The Marianna mines are yielding up their dead. Early this afternoon 119 bodies had been recovered, and of these 109 were removed to the temporary morgue. More than 60 had been identified. John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburg Buffalo Company, said that all the corpses found thus far would be hoisted from the shaft before night. The list of victims, he declared, will not exceed his first estimate of 130. A number of bodies under the fallen workings will not be recovered for several days. Others have been blown to fragments, and are being picked up piecemeal.

While the mine officials assert that they do not know what caused the explosion, many of the men who had been at work on another shift in the mine profess to have reached a satisfactory conclusion. They assert that while the hydraulic drill was at work it opened a pocket of gas, and while gas was escaping into the mine the drill struck a piece of rock, caused a spark and the explosion followed.

Fred Ellinger, 39 years of age, the only man who escaped alive, is rapidly recovering from injuries. He was able today to talk a little and narrate his experiences.

Early this morning of the victims 23 Americans had been identified, as follows: Charles Blair, Richard Platt, Frank Toeberry, Charles McElroth, Alex Poorse, Samuel Souton, James Henderson, Robert Spence, Frank Egan, Patrick Donlin, Charles Fair, John Beadley, John J. Ivill, Owen Burrs, George Greble, John Hopkins, fire boss, William Hopkins, John Federal, Michael Federal, W. J. Henderson, Dominick Rossin, Alex Doswick, John P. Alin.

Miners forming the rescue party to bring the bodies to the surface remained in the mine all night, working in four hour shifts. All the headings, with the exception of two left headings, were penetrated, and it is said that little difficulty was experienced as a result of slate and coal. All danger from further explosion is past, it was said today, and the work of bringing the 30 additional bodies which had been located proceeded at once. Coroner W. H. Sipe of Washington county remained at work all night with his assistants.

John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Company, today stated that the company's representatives had checked off the names of 120 miners who they knew were in the mine at the time of the explosion, and he does not believe the list of dead will exceed that number. One hundred and twelve bodies have been located, and Mr. Jones believes the number will total between 115 and 130.

The work of identifying the victims is going on steadily. Between 150 and 200 weeping men, women and children were lined up in front of the morgue this morning, awaiting their turns to claim their dead. A force of 22 undertakers prepare the bodies as fast as they are brought to the surface.

CONDUCTOR DIES IN HOSPITAL.

Passenger on Train in South Boston Collision on Dangerous List.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—George W. Schools, a conductor, who was injured in a rear-end collision in the South Boston yard of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Saturday night, died at the City Hospital today, making the second death as a result of the collision. Edward Chapman, a passenger on one of the trains, is still on the dangerous list at the hospital, and may not survive his injuries. All the other injured are making favorable progress towards recovery.

RICHARD H. LINDSAY.

Old-Time Washington Correspondent, and Friend of Taft, Dead.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Richard H. Lindsay, Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Star, one of the oldest of Washington correspondents, died here today at his home. Mr. Lindsay was taken sick at Hot Springs, Va., a week or ten days ago. President-elect Taft, a long-time friend of Mr. Lindsay, called on him a few days ago, at which time Mr. Lindsay expressed the belief that he would be out in a short while. He returned to his Washington home Saturday.

PORT AU PRINCE PANIC-STRICKEN.

Victorious Rebels Rapidly Advancing on Capital.

Government Troops Are Deflecting to the Enemy.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, Nov. 30.—The victorious rebels, under General Simon, are advancing rapidly on the capital, and the people of Port au Prince are in a panic. If the rebels make their way into Port au Prince it is feared that they will get out of hand and loot the city. All business houses are closing and putting up their shutters. Men are protecting their residences by barring the doors and windows, and every foreigner in the city has put up over his property the flag of the nation. The markets are deserted. The country people who come in every morning with produce have fled precipitately, leaving their goods behind them.

According to the latest reports by courier, the rebels today will reach Lecanao, 20 miles to the west of Port au Prince, and the road between here and there is one of the highways of the republic.

General Simon has addressed a proclamation to the people and the Haytian army, in which he says that the people in the southern section of the republic are tired of being governed as they have been for the past six years. He describes the administration of President Nord Alexis as in the hands of liars and executioners. The president himself he characterizes as an old man without conscience. He declares his aim is to rescue the country from this tyrant, and permit the people freely to choose a new president.

General Tanerede Auguste, minister of the interior, resigned his post today. He is of the opinion that nothing can be gained by President Alexis leaving the country. His departure will not put an end to the fighting. General Auguste today confirmed the statement made by President Alexis yesterday to American Minister Furniss, as dean of the diplomatic corps, that the president insisted upon fighting to a finish.

The government troops cannot be counted on, and they are deflecting to the enemy.

WILL NOT INTERVENE.

Haytian Situation Internal; She Has Not Asked United States Aid.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The United States government has no present intention of intervening in Haytian affairs. This statement is made on the best of authority. The situation in the island is an internal one and so far as is known here, it has to do entirely with the people there, and is not complicated by the question of the work of "emigrados," which obtains so frequently in Central American revolutions. President Nord Alexis has been in power a number of years, and, for the time being at least, there is no ground for American intervention. The case is not like that of Santo Domingo, where the American government did intervene, and where a request to that effect was made. Hayti has made no such request.

A despatch from Minister Furniss stating that the government admits that the insurgents are in possession of Miragoane and the strategic bridge this side of that place, was received at the State Department today. The revolutionists, according to a private despatch, are now about ten hours' march from Port Antonio.

Minister Furniss states that the cabinet believes that the end is near, and the government troops are constantly deserting to the insurgents, who are well prepared. The government is embarking troops, who are tried together to prevent them from deserting before they get on board.

At a meeting of the diplomatic corps today, Minister Furniss stated, the following was the unanimous opinion: The situation is not such as to call for any action of the foreign representatives but if the insurgents take Lecoanc and reach the city limits it would be desirable to notify the contesting parties that pillage, incendiarism and massacre will not be permitted.

SITUATION CRITICAL.

France Would Welcome American Intervention in Hayti.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—French official advices represent the Haytian situation as critical. The French minister, M. Carteron, has received instructions to act in harmony with Mr. Furniss, American minister.

The Associated Press was informed today that France not only would not object to American intervention in Hayti, but that she would actually welcome any steps to put an end to the anarchy in the republic.

IN TOMORROW'S ELECTION.

Analysis of the Large List of Candidates Presentad.

How to Mark a Ballot and be Sure It Will be Counted as Desired.

Tomorrow the voters of Newport for the third time will cast their ballots for city officers under the new charter. The official sample ballots posted about give no sign that the people have lost interest in city affairs. On all the ward tickets there are a total of 149 names, or one more than last year, made up as follows: For mayor 3, for School Committee 5, for aldermen 16, for councilmen, 3 years 121, two years 3, one year 1.

Last year there was but one candidate for mayor, four for School Committee, 16 for aldermen, 125 for councilmen for three years and two for councilmen for two years, a total of 148. In 1906 there were two for mayor, 10 for School Committee, 14 for aldermen, 113 for councilmen for three years, 116 for two years and 101 for one year, a grand total of 361.

Of the present officials, Mayor Clarke and all the members of the Board of Aldermen are running, but Alderman Boyle is out for mayor and not for alderman from the Third ward. Three of the present School Committee are on the ballot and two new names.

Of the councilmen, 11 of the old men are running in the First ward, 12 in the Second, 7 in the Third, with three running for aldermen, making a total of 10; 9 in the Fourth and 7 in the Fifth, so that 55 of the 75 officials to be elected are again running for office. That does not look much like losing an interest in the present form of government. It also shows that the new officials are like the old ones, disposed to run again after tasting the pleasures and bitterness of official life.

In this connection it seems appropriate to call attention to some of the new candidates for the council this year. Ex-Mayor D. B. Fearing is running from the Fourth ward, and also former Councilman W. F. Adams. From the Fifth, ex-Alderman DeLancey Kane and former Councilman Patrick J. Morgan are on the ticket. Robert S. Burlingame, who resigned, and Andrew K. Quinn, who dropped out last year, are again on the tickets. There is therefore quite an array of old talent in the new names.

The full list of candidates is as follows, where no address is given the candidate now occupying the position for which he is running:

This Morning's News

PORT AU PRINCE THREATENED.

Haytian Government Organizing Forces for a Strong Resistance.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, Nov. 29.--Government troops, under the command of General Celestin Cyriaque, minister of war, composed largely of young recruits, who were sent out to capture the leader of the new revolution, General Antoine Simon, have met with a severe defeat at the hands of the revolutionists.

The engagement took place at Anza Aveaux, which lies about 55 miles to the east of Jeremie, one of the disaffected ports, and, after severe fighting, the government forces were routed and driven back to Miragoane, 20 miles distant. Miragoane is about 50 miles from Port Au Prince. The revolutionists, under command of General Simon, former commander of the Department of the South, following up their victory at Anza Aveaux, are pushing on to Port au Prince. They have driven back the government troops many miles and have seized the towns of Miragoane and Petit Goave. It is believed that General Cyriaque, who took refuge in the German consulate at the former town, is still there, but it is feared that there will be many defections of Haytians to the revolutionary army.

President Nord Alexis has energetically rejected the suggestion which has been made to him that he give up the struggle, and the government is now actively engaged in organizing its forces for a strong resistance. Three divisions of well-disciplined troops, under command of General Andre, minister of the interior and police, occupy a position about six miles outside of the city. The south approach to the city is being fortified and Forts Bizoton and Mercredi, mounting modern artillery, command the roads.

Just how long it will take the revolutionists to traverse the road from Miragoane, which is about 50 miles from Port au Prince, is a matter of doubt, but since there are no government forces to check them they are likely to reach this city within 48 hours.

United States cruiser Tacoma and French training ship Duguay Trouin are in the harbor, and British cruiser Sybilla and Italian cruiser Fieramosta are expected to reach Port au Prince within a few days.

CANADA TO ERADICATE "GRAFT."

Government Plans to Offer Sweeping Bills in Parliament.

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—The announcement was made today that the government will introduce into Parliament at its coming session sweeping bills, which will go to the root of the "graft" evil. The three months' investigation which Judge Robert Cassels of the Exchequer Court of Canada acting under a special dispensation of Parliament, has been making into allegations of the irregularities by officials and employes of the marine and fisheries department of the Dominion government has resulted this week in the suspension of several officials. The outcome has been an even greater sensation over the national scandal than was caused during the hot political campaign preceding the general election. It is announced that one of the fruits of the investigation will be a general re-organization of the marine department with the intent to eliminate all concerned in the charges, as well as to bring criminal proceedings against the accused.

The investigation made by Judge Cassels has led to the abolition of the so-called "patronage lists," containing the names of preferred contractors who alone were asked to tender bids when the government was about to let contracts, and the establishment of a rule that hereafter the department will resort to the open market.

The announcement is also made that at the approaching session of Parliament the government will offer a bill making it an indictable offence, punishable by a heavy fine or imprisonment for two years, to solicit, accept, offer or give any bribe of money or other consideration for influencing the awarding of a government contract.

The suspension of the Marine Agent at Quebec and nearly 20 minor officials there was one result of the hearing in that city. It was alleged that for more than 10 years one official was accustomed to receive a commission of not less than 5 per cent, and often more, from contractors on orders which they filled for the government at that place. The annual transactions amounted on an average to nearly $1,000,000. Many minor employes were also in receipt of gratuities ranging from $200 down, it was alleged.

In St. John, N. B., it was charged that one agent accepted gifts from contractors in the guise of loans, for which he gave notes, which he was neither asked nor expected to pay. The members of one firm of contractors testified that they made not less than 50 such loans, ranging from $50 to $400 apiece, but mostly of $300 during the past four years. This agent received a salary of $4,000 a year from the government and kept a private yacht worth $10,000.

At St. John, as at Quebec, the contractors testified that gifts of small sums of money and [illegible] the lesser employes [illegible] common occurrence, and [illegible] the had gone on for [illegible] the contractors admitted [illegible] evened up by charging the [illegible] excessive prices for supplies.

A word about marking the ballot. In the first place, use the pencil in the booth. If it is not sharp call the attention of the warden to the fact. He will see that it is sharpened, or you can go to another booth where the pencil is sharp. If you have a knife, you can sharpen it yourself. It is a better pencil for marking than the ordinary citizen carries around.

There are no party circles or emblems, or any such contrivances, on the ballot. All one has to do is to mark across in the square to the right of one candidate for mayor, four candidates for School Committee and one candidate for alderman from each ward, as the several wards are separated. There is no trick about it. A vote can be marked for the Council for three years if he marks for 14 the ballot will be void in the First and Second wards. There are vacancies to be filled and one for each other ward that can be marked.

[illegible] are made in the squares, the votes will be counted by the Board of Aldermen when they meet Wednesday morning. People will feel that after all they have not voted in vain.

About 2 is suggested that voters make up their tickets before going into the polling places and other have a card containing those for whom they intend to vote, from which they can mark their ballots. In this way they will avoid delay and make sure that they vote for those for whom they wish to vote and not for others. It will not be necessary to remove the list of names for the Council which have left with the ballot into booths.

MAY CHANGE TRAIN SERVICE.

Plan for Re-Adjustment of Old Colony Schedule for Fall River Connections.

Travelers between Providence and Newport by way of Fall River, who are deprived of convenient connections at Fall River by the change of time on the Warren and Bristol branch, will be interested in the fact that a readjustment of train service on the Old Colony division to meet the new conditions created by the opening of the tunnel is contemplated.

Until a new time table between Boston, Taunton and Fall River can be arranged, three close connections at Fall River made under the old Fox Point schedule will be cut out, and passengers from Providence who desire to go to Newport on the steam trains leaving Fall River at 10:00 a. m., 4:01 and 5:16 p. m., must leave the Providence station half an hour earlier.

It is stated at Superintendent Droege's office that, owing to the change of leaving time in Providence, the three connections at Fall River are missed by a few minutes, and that for special reasons the steam trains can not be held at Fall River for Newport passengers on the Warren and Bristol branch. All the other connections, however, are improved by a material shortening of the waiting time at the Fall River station.

Patrons expected that the service to Newport would be improved in every detail by the running of trains through the tunnel, and the intention of the company is to give Newport and Providence the best facilities possible, but this complication was not provided for, owing to putting the tunnel in operation much earlier than was originally planned. The close morning and afternoon connections, however, will be restored, if practicable, when the next time table is made up and the subject is receiving the attention of the superintendents of the Providence and the Old Colony divisions.

A remarkable record in the operation of the Warren and Bristol branch was made Saturday. One train was a few minutes late, and the report for the day was that more than 99 per cent of trains arrived and departed on schedule time. This is regarded as an exceptional performance in view of the fact that the equipment of the tunnel zone is not complete and that a stretch of single track between Warren and Fall River introduces complications which make for loss of time.

NAVY LACKS COLLIERS.

Admiral Cowles Recommends Steps to Be Taken to Supply Adequate Needs.

Had foreign complications arisen or had a combination been effected between foreign shipowners our fleet might have had to remain dying helpless in some of the foreign ports, is the observation made by Rear Admiral William S. Cowles, chief of the equipment bureau of the navy, in his annual report in discussing the lack of colliers necessary to supply the battleship fleet with coal on its cruise around the world.

The total tonnage of American vessels which might have been obtained by purchase or otherwise would not have been capable of carrying a sufficient amount of coal to supply the fleet on its voyage, and it was necessary to charter foreign vessels for the purpose. He recommends that immediate steps be taken to supply an adequate number of colliers for the Navy. There should at least be one for every two units, he says, with sufficient capacity for supplying four vessels.

A total of 836,589 tons of coal, coke, including transportation, $5,418,824, was purchased during the fiscal year 1908, and of this amount 771,948 tons were purchased within the limits of the United States.

Admiral Cowles's report says that during the past year marked progress has been made in wireless telegraphy and its value in the scheme of national defence is becoming more and more apparent. Recent developments, he claims, warrant the establishment of high-powered, long-distance stations. Besides the erection of such a station at Washington in the near future, the bureau contemplates eventually the construction of such stations on the Pacific coast at Hawaii, Guam, Samoa and the Philippines, so that the fleet will at all times be in direct communication with Washington, wherever it may be—in the North Atlantic ocean, the North Pacific, the greater portion of the South Pacific and part of the Indian ocean. When the high power station at Washington is erected, noon signals will be sent out which will reach every portion of the North Atlantic ocean.

AGRICULTURE IN NATIONAL INTERESTS.

[Agnes C. Laut in The Outing Magazine.]

Considering the bigness of agriculture in national interests—$20,000,000 it is worth while looking into what is spent on this great constructive work compared to the other departments of the federal government. Here are the main figures in the appropriation list for the current year:

Post Office,	$222,562,592
Pension,	163,053,000
Permanent and annual appropriations,	154,194,296
Navy,	122,662,585
Sundry Civil,	112,897,313
Urgent deficiency, additional urgent deficiency, and general deficiency,	56,213,923
Legislative, etc.,	32,832,811
Agriculture,	15,000,000
Fortifications,	6,217,145
Army,	95,384,217

It will be noticed that agriculture comes almost at the foot of the list as to expenditure for the advancement of farming. In fact, since 1839, when the first $1,000 was spent by the Washington government for the advancement of agriculture, to 1907, when $15,000,000 is the appropriation, the total amount spent by the Department of Agriculture has not totaled $70,000,000. In other words, in 70 years the government has not spent so much on agriculture as it has in a single year on navy or navy or pensions or postoffices. Which of all these government departments is adding the most of permanent benefit to the nation? Not long ago a congressional committee, after strict investigations, figured carefully out exactly how much value in dollars and cents the Agricultural Department had added to the farm products of the United States a year. The increase over and above ordinary results as a direct effect of scientific work in another bureau, soils, plant industry, animal industry, chemistry, public roads, entomology, etc., is two hundred and thirty millions a year. What other department of American life can show such results in constructive work? You point to railways. The railways are dependent on the increase of farm produce for their big haul. So keenly do many of the railways realize what science is doing for the farm—and for their own traffic returns—that the big western roads run farm institute and demonstration trains free with scientists and lecturers aboard to demonstrate to the farmers in visible objects just what new scientific methods are doing for agriculture. You point to manufacturing interests in America as a big constructive work. As stated before, the manufactures are dependent on the farm for 75 per cent of raw material.

Pope Suffers a Relapse, and Is Obliged to Stay in Bed.

ROME, Nov. 30.—Because of a severe cold, the Pope has suffered a relapse which is causing some anxiety. Owing to a slight fever, he is obliged to remain in bed. Drs. Petacci and Marchiafava visited the Holy Father, and after a careful examination announced that if proper care is taken, with thorough rest, they feel sure no complications will arise. All audiences have been suspended, including those of Archbishop Glennon and Bishop Allen of Mobile.

This morning a special representative from Portugal expected to present the Pope with gifts from King Manuel, in honor of the recent priest-hood jubilee, but because of the Holy Father's indisposition these plans were countermanded.

FOUR VOTERS CONVICTED.

Other Brookline Men Charged With Illegal Methods at Polls.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Nov. 30.—Four of the 25 Brookline men charged with voting illegally, or attempting to vote illegally, at the Republican caucus in this town September 22 last, were convicted in the district court here today. Sentence will be pronounced Thursday by Judge Henry P. Ware. The men convicted were Francis J. O'Brien, who was charged with making a false oath, and with illegal voting, and who was convicted on both counts, and Thomas J. Walsh, John Kelly and Augustine C. Murray, all of whom were charged with illegal voting.

Most of the cases yet to be decided rest on charges of attempting to vote illegally.

In announcing his decision today Judge Ware said that no fraudulent intent had been shown on the part of the prisoners, but he declared that it is not necessary to show fraudulent intent, inasmuch as the illegal act constitutes a violation of the law.

The cases are the outcome of the recent contest for the Republican representative nomination between Norman White and John A. Curtis, both of this town. It is alleged that the prisoners are Democrats and had voted at the Democratic caucus, and, despite this fact, either voted or attempted to vote at the Republican caucus in September.

TEN PAGES.

A FINAL WORD REGARDING THE MAYORALTY.

During the municipal campaign which has now closed The News has been active in the interest, as it was believed, of good government. It has supported Mr Clarke for mayor rather than Mr. Bliss for reasons which it has stated plainly, and has opposed the election of Mr. Boyle for reasons which it has also tried to state in no uncertain way. We believe Mr. Clarke will be elected, but if those who are convinced that his election is infinitely to be preferred to that of Mr. Boyle do not rally strongly to his support it is possible that the latter may poll a plurality of the votes in the three-cornered contest and win the office. We believe that Mr. Boyle has many deficiencies in his public and private character which make it very undesirable that he should ever again be mayor of this city. In support of our position we have been obliged to say some unpleasant things, which we would rather not have felt compelled to say; but the office of mayor is a high one and it makes a great difference whether a man is well qualified for the position or not, and his private character does, and should, enter largely into the question of his eligibility.

ELIOT'S WORK FOR HARVARD.

President Eliot of Harvard University, speaking to a gathering of Harvard men in Providence a few days ago, placed his college on a high pedestal when he declared that it is the hardest to get into, the most difficult to stay in and the hardest to be graduated from of any in this country. There is little reason to doubt the truth of this assertion, inasmuch as it is well known in the educational world that the university for years has been increasing the severity of its entrance requirements, its courses and the attainments required for final graduation. While perhaps few, if any, had put the conditions in such concise and concrete form as President Eliot did on this occasion, there had been a general feeling that Harvard stands very high in the ranks of those which expect their students to give a good account of themselves and their attainments while within their walls and does not intend to send any out into the world without an education which should do credit to the institution and enable the men to make a creditable record for themselves so far as college instruction could accomplish that.

That is a great record for the president of a college to have as he retires from the chair he has held for a long period, as President Eliot is about to do, and it must be with keen satisfaction that he looks back over the life he has spent at the university and the vast development he has brought about during his administration. This development has been both material and intellectual. The college has grown in buildings and endowment, in the number of students and in other indications of prosperity materially. More than that, it has grown in the character and results of its instruction, in the intellectual atmosphere which surrounds it and in the standards of its scholarship, and that is an attainment which any president of a university may well feel proud to have made for the institution he has served.

So much prominence is given to sports and athletics in connection with the educational institutions of the country in the public prints and the public mind that there is often an impression abroad that the chief business of colleges is to fit men to play on the teams which engage in intercollegiate sports. There have been times in the history of some colleges when this opinion was in a small degree justified, but those days have passed for most if not for all, and the test of scholarship is far higher today in all universities than it was even a few years ago. In this development of seed institutions along the intellectual line Harvard has from the first taken the lead, and though she has been closely followed by some of the other leading universities of the country she has always maintained that lead. Now, according to the assertion of her president, she holds the proud position of being foremost in requirements for admission, for continuance as a student and for graduation. And for all this the institution is indebted most largely to the man who is soon to retire from the presidency he has so long held and enjoy quietly the evening of his life.

In the footsteps of the leading college in this land in this respect are closely following other institutions of higher education, and all along the line the colleges are increasing their requirements for admission, for examination and for graduation, with the design of securing more liberal scholarship, a wider range of knowledge and a higher degree of attainment in their students, so that the men who go out from the colleges shall be better equipped to grapple with the problems of life, to wrestle with the world and to serve the generation in which they live and the people among whom they dwell. This may mean fewer students, as it has at Harvard, but it will mean also better quality of material and equipment and a stronger, more intellectual and more useful body of alumni to shed glory and honor on their alma mater and to help in the development of the country and the improvement of the conditions of life all over the world.

THE POWER OF "THE SYSTEM."

It was Thomas W. Lawson who gave the name of "the system" to the Standard Oil Company and its connections. It is a convenient descriptive term for what is more than any one of the men identified with the management of the oil company and more than the oil company itself. It is the enormous power of this "system" which has caused public apprehension rather than the fortunes of any individuals.

The Standard Oil does not distribute all its profits, though it pays from three to four per cent per month year after year. It uses a good part of its profits in making investments. The big men in the concern cannot of course spend anything like the whole of their vast incomes and are making investments; while these are individual, they are dominated by the common interests of the investors with each other and with the great corporation which they control.

The result is that half a dozen or possibly a dozen men have a power over business which the community does not like and does not regard as wholly safe. Mr. Rockefeller admits that the Standard has at times loaned $32,000,000 on the Stock Exchange. The power to do that or not to do comes pretty close to being the power to make or break a panic. The "system" controls the biggest bank in New York; it probably controls several other banks there and in other cities. It is suspected to control several railroads; Mr. Rockefeller owns the stock of a few and the bonds of many railroads. This line of investigation was not pursued thoroughly, but there was evidence enough to confirm suspicions that the "system" is pretty powerful at the directors' boards of many of the great railroad companies.

The public is not entirely unreasonable in looking with suspicion upon such a concentration of commercial and financial power. It is a fundamental principle with us that there must not be a great concentration of political power, and there is an uneasy feeling that financial monopoly may become as oppressive as impe-ialism.

THE DUTY TO VOTE.

In a republic every man has a duty to perform. The duty takes different forms, but there is one form which a man is never justified in disregarding—the duty to deposit his vote in the ballot box when the community is choosing those who are to fill responsible public places. If a man cannot find his ideal candidate on the ballot there is generally if not always a choice of evils, a better man to elect or a worse one to defeat. In the recent general election there were about 30,000 voters in this state who were lacking in patriotism or too lazy to go to the polling places, and in Newport there were 704 whose votes were not cast for the same reasons. No republic can secure the best for itself if an election with such indifference to the sacred duty of voting among its citizens. No excuse save illness or total inability should serve to keep a man who is worthy of the name away from the ballot box on voting day.

The official count of the votes cast in North Carolina in the recent Presidential election shows a marked increase in the number of ballots for the leading candidate, and particularly for the Republican nominee. The vote for Bryan was 12,508 larger than was cast for Parker in 1904 and that for Taft 53,612 larger than was given to Roosevelt four years ago. Bryan's plurality, 22,543, is less by 18,817 than Parker received in 1904. The Republican gain is nearly 50 per cent, and possibly this is an indication of a broken solid South within a comparatively few years.

Postmaster General Meyer estimates a deficit of more than $17,000,000 in the Postoffice Department for the fiscal year ending June 30 next. The deficit for the year ended June 30 last was $15,878,622, and there is likely to be little difference this year. The total receipts for the past year were $191,178,684 and the total expenditures $206,556,846.

Andrew Carnegie's latest words regarding wealth are as follows: We must all learn the great truth that only competence is desirable, almost necessary, wealth unnecessary, and when it does come it is only a sacred trust to be administered for the general good." He further says there is misery in money, and that millionaires who laugh are rare.

The report of the public service commission shows that on an average every person in New York city takes 212 street car rides in a year, and that in the past 17 years street car traffic has more than doubled. The report further shows that every new transit facility brings increased travel quite apart from the natural increase in population.

Timothy L. Woodruff has withdrawn from the Senatorial contest in New York, leaving the way clear for Secretary Root's election to Senator Platt's seat. New York will thus be assured a representative in the Senate who will rank in ability and prominence with any member.

Boston's new subway, which was opened to the public today, has the distinction of being the costliest thoroughfare ever constructed.

Hayti is experiencing another of those revolutions which come with some degree of regularity.

Eternal vigilance is the price of civic righteousness as well as of some other things.

Tomorrow will tell the preference of the voters of Newport for next year's officials.

Public office is a public trust.

Vote early—but vote.

DROP THE "TAG DAY" IDEA.

[Boston Transcript.]

The original "tag day" scheme had much to recommend it. Where an entire community was interested in some well-known charity over the merits of which no difference of opinion existed, the cheerful enthusiasm with which scores of young volunteer collectors went forth, usually on a pleasant Saturday, to affix their tokens to carriages, automobiles and bicycles, as well as to every individual who could be found, whether resident or stranger, proved rather exhilarating. A day thus set apart widened popular interest in some great charity.

But the tag day is coming to grief. It was obviously liable to abuse. No authority existed to decide whether any proposed object deserved such an observance. An entire community might be held up, by somewhat annoying methods, for a cause of which it knew little or of whose management it had no real information. It is not strange that the practice of compensating the collectors should creep in, thus diverting a considerable percentage of the receipts from the charitable object to which they were supposedly going. The whole scheme lacked responsibility which was at the basis of all modern charitable work. The collectors themselves were sometimes not proper persons. The treasurer, to whom the money finally went, could give no receipts or make anything but the most indefinite accounting for what had come in. These conditions having led to acknowledged evils in the older charities of the world, has been gradually discarded. Their revival in tag day thus constituted a distinct reversion in type.

Instances have come to light where the idea has been employed in a decidedly questionable way. What clever schemers could do with it was readily apparent from the start. But the public ought not to need the lesson of some barefaced fraud to convince it of the essential folly of the tag-day practice.

THE INTERESTING CHIMNEY SWIFT.

[H. K. Job, in The Outing Magazine.]

Before all parts of the country were settled the chimney swift resorted to hollow trees for rest, shelter and nesting, but now it seldom occupies any other retreat than a chimney. The sight of swifts pausing in their flight over the chimney-tops to throw up wings, and drop into the flue with a noise like distant thunder, is a familiar one. In the autumn, when flocking preparatory to the southward migration, I have seen assemblages at dusk drop into some selected chimney in a steady stream, until thousands must have been clinging inside, occupying every available inch of brick surface. Even to this day they are known to occasionally revert to their ancient custom and use some large, hollow tree for a roost. Such roosts are said to have been seen very recently.

They return to us about the last of April, but do not lay their eggs, ordinarily, until July. During June they may be seen darting over the tops of dead trees, passing hardly an instant in their flight as they wrench off the twig, which is carried down the chimney and stuck to the brick wall with a gummy saliva the female swift exudes until the curious, basket-like structure has been completed, and then four or five elongated, pure white eggs are laid. The brood, and the old birds in feeding them make considerable disturbance, but they make amends by killing off the mosquitoes and the flies.

It is hard to photograph the nest, owing to the narrowness and inaccessibility of the chimney, but the writer was fortunate in happening upon a very peculiar and desirable nesting site in the bayleaf of a barn. Up close to the top of the inside wall, near an open window, for the past three years they have stuck their curious nest to the plain board wall. Photographs were secured by building a platform across the beams for the camera, and having a friend throw sunlight on the subject from outdoors by means of a mirror.

HUMORS OF THE PLAYGROUND.

Children Demand That Games Be In Season—Story Telling During Summer Months.

[Mary K. Busby, in the Playground.]

Given an ordinary amount of apparatus to swing and climb on, enough open space for a lively game, a sand box or two, and the average child will enjoy himself in a playground. But, after one summer's experience, a playground director will know that there are days when swings and teeters out in the hot sun lose their attractiveness, and when prisoner's base and indoor ball don't go. There remains the sand box with its various possibilities, but if the hot days continue too long the director will tax her ingenuity hard to the utmost.

Our small settlement playground is fortunate in possessing six oak trees big enough to cast a shadow. It was under these that the hot days of July and August of this summer were spent. The problem was to find games and amusements which did not call for too much energy. Books of playground games prove of little assistance, for they deal almost wholly with active games.

We played "poor pussy," "beast, bird, or fish," and another resurrected from childhood memories, known as "Have you seen my bird today? This question, after being propounded to each child in turn, is followed by "What color was it?" and when the right color is guessed the guesser receives a thimbleful of water in the face. Even a thimbleful is gratefully received in hot weather. This game proved immensely popular, but for the most part, we found few games which could be called hot weather favorites.

The story hour, always an important playground feature, is of double importance during these dull days. "Tell us a story"—"Tell it again"—"Tell us another," are constant demands. Our playground was reserved for younger children—children under 12. They were at just the right story age or at what might be termed the age of myth and legend. All those tales which had their birth during the childhood of the world held the same charm for these children of today, that they held for those simple, older children of long ago. The stories of the Heroes, the Asgard, of Ulysses of Robin Hood, of King Arthur and his knights—these are the best stories for playground use. They have the true out-of-door flavor, and to be appreciated to the full must be listened to under an oak tree.

Together with his love of stories every child possesses something of the dramatic instinct. The games he plays are of the dramatic type, and for a time these satisfy him. But there comes a period a little later, perhaps at the age of 10 or 12, when the desire to "act" possesses him.

This histrionic passion seized our playground in August. It ran its course for weeks. Nothing would take its place. We had a large tent on the grounds for a shelter, and the playground benches, placed together at one end of this, formed the stage—the extra benches being left for seats. A medicine show which had held forth for a time in a vacant lot near by furnished further inspiration. Many of the "acts" from the show were accurately reproduced, supplemented with others copied from cheap vaudeville. These performances while highly amusing to the onlooker, were hardly to be commended. An antidote was found in dramatizations of some of the stories which had proved most popular. The scene at Circe's palace was given with great earnestness the actors taking the part of the men turned into swine being especially effective.

The children did most of their own dramatizing, usually "making up" as they went along. They were doing the story of the three little pigs who built three houses—of straw, of mud and of brick. The wolf had come to the last house. He had huffed—he had puffed, but the house had not fallen in. He stood in deep meditation, and then, with sudden emphasis, brought out, "By George, I've got to get that pig some way."

This dramatic instinct is apt to break out in unexpected places. We owned a croquet set which was carried across the street to the house every evening. Two boys had been delegated to carry it over one evening, and the amazed director reached the gate just in time to see a procession crossing the street. The box was heaped with grass and weeds. There were bearers at the head and feet and the followers sang something that did duty as a funeral dirge."

With the coming of the first touch of autumn in the air, the old active games began to assert themselves. But the transition in our playground was gradual. The dramatic instinct still held sway. But, instead of doing acts on a stage, we played Indian. The rag weeds along the fence had been allowed to grow, and they furnished a most acceptable forest.

When the playground closed in September there were active signs of foot ball, and even hints of shinny. The days of make-believe were over.

The spring and early summer have their established games. So has the autumn. There remain the dull days. They must be taken account of in planning a season in a playground.

JOSIAH FLYNT, THE MAN.

[Arthur Symons.]

Josiah Flynt was never quite at home under a roof or in the company of ordinary people, where he seemed always like one caught and detained unwillingly. An American, who had studied in a German university, brought up, during his early life, in Berlin, he always had a fixed distaste for the interests of those about him, and instinctive passion for whatever vices extends the border-line which shuts up in upon respectability. There is a good deal of affectation in the literary revolt against respectability, together with a child's desire to shock its elders, and snatch a lurid reputation from those whom it professes to despise. My friend never had any of this affectation; life was not a masquerade to him; and his disguises were the most serious part of his life. The simple fact is, that respectability, the personal existence of normal people, did not interest him; he could not even tell you why, without searching consciously for reasons; he was born with the soul of a vagabond, into a family of gentle, exquisitely refined people; he was born so, that is all.

Human curiosity, which in most of us is subordinate to some more definite purpose, existed in him for its own sake; it was his inner life, he had no other; his form of self-development, his form of culture. It seems to me that this man, who had seen so much of humanity, who had seen humanity so closely, where it has least temptation to be anything but itself, really achieved culture, almost perfect of its kind, though the kind were of his own invention. He was not an artist, who can create; he was not a thinker or a dreamer, or a man of action; he was a student of men and women, and of the interests among men and women, just those people who are least accessible, least cared for, least understood, and therefore, to one like my friend, most alluring. He was not conscious of it, but there was a great pity at the heart of this devouring curiosity. It was his love of the outcast which made him like to live with outcasts, not as a visitor in their midst, but as one of themselves.

MAYOR CLARKE REPLIES.

Answers Mr. Bliss's Questions Regarding Certain Business Propositions."

To the Editor of the Daily News:

It is the first duty of a business man to answer business letters promptly. If you grant me the courtesy of publication I shall be glad to reply to the letter of Mr. Bliss published in your issue of Saturday, November 28th.

In the first question, Mr. Bliss asks whether the matter of Ledge road was a business proposition, and also if it is a business proposition, and also if it is true that I have granted "a pass for it." In all business transactions it is, I believe, customary to consider rather carefully the standing of the person making the offer. How would it be possible for me to make a request since the death of the late Mr. Belmont, and the land on both sides of the road I wished to close, willing to give other roads to take the place thus created so that the distance covered by the public would be practically the same, offering to macadamize the Cogshall avenue for a quarter of a mile under the city should have to be done, Mr. Belmont would be expended in these alterations and improvements approximately $45,000, a sum which would have gone directly into the pockets of the workingmen of Newport. For the increased value of his property, Mr. Belmont would have had to pay the usual and apportionate taxes, in addition to the abundant remuneration from the municipality, to talk of the action of the Board of Aldermen in giving away the people's rights to satisfy a rich man's whim is folly or worse. By every test of the business world this was a business proposition for the city of Newport.

There is absolutely no excuse for Mr. Bliss's second statement, since by his own declaration it is for his official acts that a city official is answerable. I appeared before the committee of the General Assembly in response to the request of one of the members, and I confined my remarks on that occasion with the definite statement that I appeared as a citizen only, not in any official capacity whatsoever. To any one who will take the trouble to read the published report, it will be evident that my speech was in no way opposed to the enlisted men of the United States service.

Further proof of the essential justice of my position on this question is afforded by referring to page 6 of the Daily News of November 28, which calls attention to the recent action of both army and navy authorities in regard to the wearing of civilian clothes by the men when off duty. For some years my business and other engagements have brought me very closely in touch with large numbers of enlisted men. Although, like Colonel Roosevelt, I have been an officer of the militia, it can never be charged that I have ever refused to sit at the same table with an enlisted man when the man and I were both guests at the same social function. In all this experience I have, as I believe my numerous friends in both branches of the service will gladly testify, consistently maintained their right to justice and fair play, not as soldiers and citizens, but as men.

Regarding the Water Works agreement, I would respectfully refer Mr. Bliss to the resolution of the Representative Council, passed March 6, 1907, "Resolved, that the mayor be instructed to interview the officials of the Newport Water Works in regard to the necessity of additional filtration as recommended in his inaugural address, and is hereby authorized to make such arrangements to that end as shall seem for the best interests of the city."

Of course, as any one versed in city affairs must know, no contract is binding between the city and any corporation or individual, unless said contract is signed and ordered executed by the Board of Aldermen. Without such authorization the agreement was not in force, or in force, a fact which should be apparent to any one, even lawyer. It was not expected that a contract agreement would be satisfactory to all, it being in form to be discussed and threshed over.

The contract between the city and the Newport Hospital took some time to work out satisfactorily to all concerned. There are in every contract complaints that each side insists upon. At first, but by careful and persistent work, as each side gradually gets the other's point of view, things shape themselves so that finally both sides agree. Such would have been the result had not the Representative Council taken the matter from my hands. Incidentally I would remind Mr. Bliss that of the 25 years' franchise with which he reproaches me are the gift of the people of the city of Newport to the Water Works Company, by virtue of the original contract.

In regard to the last question, I am at a disadvantage. Had Mr. Bliss seen fit to specify some of the "various items expended not authorized by the Representative Council," I should have been happy to show him his mistake. For instance I can recall which I confidently lend any color to Mr. Bliss's statement is the action of the Board of Aldermen in ordering the extension of the Wellington Avenue or King Park sewer. In this matter the board acted under the advice of the state law, as interpreted by the city solicitor. The construction of this sewer was thought to be a constant menace to the health of the community, many of whom are in the habit of bathing at King Park. Prompt action was required by the Board of Aldermen and taken were under the direction of the city solicitor.

William P. Clarke.

tority. The state authorities attacked the jurisdiction of the court, claiming that the commission itself was a court, as provided by the state constitution, and that its decree could not be interfered with by a federal tribunal.

After hearing the arguments in the case Judge Pritchard, December 26, 1907, issued a final decree, granting the prayer of the railroad companies and enjoining the enforcement of the commissioners' order of reduction. He held that the commissioners' duties were administrative and not judicial.

This decision was overruled by today's action. Justice Holmes in his opinion, said the proceeding of the commission was legislative, and not judicial in character, and the court's decision of reversal was based on the failure of the railroads to exhaust their rights in the state courts.

Justice Brewer alone dissented from the result.

GUILTY ON FOUR INDICTMENTS.

Former Patent Official to Serve Three Years in Atlanta Jail.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Edward W. Barton, former assistant examiner of the patent office, today pleaded guilty to four indictments against him in connection with John A. Henry, a York, Pa., inventor, and Henry E. Everding, a Philadelphia patent solicitor, and Justice Gould of the district criminal court sentenced Barton to three years in the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary. The trial of Henry and Everding will begin tomorrow. The prosecution grows out of alleged irregularities in electric light patents.

LOCAL BRIEFS

—Collier Lelanon passed up, bound for Bradford, this afternoon.

—Mr. George Burkinshaw is confined to his home on Powel avenue.

—Miss Mason will close her cottage on Rhode Island avenue tomorrow.

—The body of Henry Jackson was brought here this afternoon for interment.

—The divers from the Torpedo Station are repairing the water pipe at Long wharf.

—Former Harbor Master Henry Harding is seriously ill at his home on Thurston avenue.

—Miss Malcom, who remained here some time after closing her cottage, has gone to New York.

—Only one barrel of fish went to New York last night, and today only three came over from Block Island.

—E. S. Marsh has rented for Philip Stevens the lower half of the house at 21 Thames street to James McIvin.

—Mr. Ernst Voigt, Jr., has returned to Holy Cross College, after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Voigt.

—The boarding-houses had a good business Saturday and Sunday, parents of boys at Clovne and St. George's schools visiting them.

—Tomorrow, election day, will not be a legal holiday, and the banks and public offices will be open as usual. The highway department will have a holiday, however.

—Miss Anna Cooper, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper, Miss Baird, Mr. Augustus Jay and Miss Fanny Jones, guest of Miss Lyman, left this afternoon for New York.

—"Tempest and Sunshine," a dramatization of Mary J. Holmes's novel of that name, will be presented at the Opera House Monday evening, December 21, under the management of W. F. Mann.

—A large tree on the Norman estate has been moved quite a distance, by means of a trench through which it was moved on rollers the same as a house, without being raised to the level of the surface.

—Scout cruiser Chester, Commander Wilson, arrived at the Bradford coaling station today. After her trials she will proceed to the New York navy yard for minor repairs. She was coaled in three hours and left at 1:15 this afternoon.

—There was a still alarm seven minutes before 12 yesterday, for a chimney fire on Narragansett avenue. It was near enough to the noon hour for the owners of some watches and clocks to believe their timepieces were in need of a semi-occasional setting.

—In the probate court this morning the account of the administrator on the estate of Dennis W. Sheehan was allowed and the balance ordered distributed to creditors whose claims have been allowed. The inventory of the estate of Sophia E. Blatchford was allowed and ordered recorded.

—Port Adams launch Captain Durn will lay off for her annual overhauling tomorrow and her place will be supplied by the General Robert Swartwout. The latter craft is expected to be withdrawn from there within a month, to be relieved by a new boat of much improved type.

—Captain Tom Shea has hauled out his launch Defender for the winter. The Carrie is still in commission, however, and yesterday had a party of fishermen out near the lightship, with results disastrous to the fish, for some handsome tautog, running up to 10 pounds, were caught. The weather was ideal for an outing.

—The owner of a trained bull terrier had him on exhibition on the streets this morning and attracted considerable attention from all who saw him. The animal were decorated with a fact that is not told, a green collar, on which were the words "Vote for Clarke." He carried a pipe in his mouth, which was a good story that he had to be trained.

—Instructor Cowell has arranged a gymnastic competition by the members of the Junior Middle class at the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium tomorrow night. This will be the test in a series of such competitions to be given from time to time throughout the season, for suitable prizes, which it is hoped will stir up interest in the work. Next week probably he will have a contest for the Junior class.

—In giving the voters a list of candidates for tomorrow's election, one class, the wardens and ward clerks, was inadvertently omitted. As, however, there is a contest for these offices in but one ward, the Fourth, the old officials are sure of a walkover. In the Fourth the present warden, Michael R. Connelly, and ward clerk, Thomas L. Doyle, are opposed by Henry S. Wagner for warden and C. Royal Blackmar for ward clerk.

AN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

Many of the Candidates for Office Have Spent Money for Printing in Some Form.

The present city campaign has been worth something to the printers, for many candidates have felt moved to have printing done and a number have sent circulars or postal cards to the voters. As there are 3924 property voters on the ward lists, it can be seen that the sending of a circular by a candidate for alderman is something of an undertaking. Besides these personal appeals, there seems to be a multitude of candidates for aldermen formed by one each in the First, Second and Third wards.

Then there are lists sent around in the several wards, with the names of candidates for the Council, with the following notice: "Vote for the following thirteen men for the Representative Council, Tuesday, December 1, 1908." The best way for the voter to act is to take the full list of candidates and make his own selection.

A story is out that when certain democrats opened their pay envelopes Saturday they found therein a notice to vote for a certain candidate for office. This is something new in Newport, but new things are coming along continually. It is not known how many such envelopes there were in the city, but the voters are not obliged to pay attention to such notices. They can vote as they please.

Mayor Clarke had small billboards put into commission Sunday or Saturday night, for Sunday they were to be found all over town, with notices to the effect that he is running for office. There can be no excuse for not voting for Mayor Clarke because his candidacy was not known, for all who peep by can see that he is running. Mr. Bliss had previously announced in big letters that he is a candidate, but his were shown only in a few places. Thus far no billboard work has been done for Mr. Boyle.

There promises to be a larger vote tomorrow than at the two preceding city elections. The registry voters were eliminated from action last year, for there was no opposition for mayor or School Committee, all the registry voters can vote for. This year there are three candidates for mayor and five for School Committee and some lustling seems in order. Last year, of a total of 4,971 names on the lists, only 3,057 votes were cast, or but 62.5 per cent of the whole. The year before, at the city election, 74 per cent of the vote was cast. Against these small percentages can be put the vote last November at the state and national election, when 86.3 per cent of the possible vote was cast.

For tomorrow's election there will be 23 fewer names on the lists than there were at the November election.

UNDER THE NEW LIQUOR LAW.

Geographical Distribution of Places Now Selling Which Have Been Refused Licenses.

The new liquor law passed last May will go into effect tomorrow, December 1. As tomorrow happens to be the day of the city election, and as the new law provides for no sales on election day, the places which received licenses for the year beginning tomorrow will begin with a closed day. As they had a closed day last election in November—that is, closed until the polls were closed—this will be no novelty.

Tonight 17 places now selling will go out of business so far as the legal right to sell intoxicating liquors is concerned, as they have been refused licenses for next year. These, arranged geographically, are: James Allen, 12 Collins street; Patrick Sheehan, 50 West Broadway; John D. Curran, Marlborough street and West Broadway; Nicholas Mitchell, 109 Long wharf; Reed & Draper, 175 Thames street; P. H. Horgan, 5 Frank street; Charles Hitt, 30 Market square; James Connolly, 8 Kinsley's wharf; Dennison & Co., retail, 11 Kinsley's wharf; Charles Sahlin, 26 Prospect Hill street; John Lowrey, 418 Thames street; Michael Manning, 558 Thames street; John J. Condon, 596 Thames street; J. H. Finn, 497 Spring street; A. J. Doherty, 513 Spring street; John Brennan, 21 Bath road; Charles A. Traiger, 8 Middleton avenue.

It will be seen that the cutting has been distributed about all parts of the city. There is still a chance for some licenses to be granted, as but 46 have been granted and 50 is the limit.

COLLIER STERLING LOSES PART OF HER TOW.

Collier Sterling left Boston Saturday at 3 a. m. with five coal barges in tow, for Bradford. On the passage two barges were lost, but no one was on board. Chief Boatswain John D. Walsh, in charge of the Bradford Station, was informed of the facts and communicated the mishap to the proper authorities. Mr. Walsh says the collier is now on her way to Hampton Roads, to await orders for another cargo of coal for Bradford. She is taking the place of the Abarenda. Captain Pickel, which is having a new propeller put in position at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, to replace the one she lost two weeks ago.

INJURED BY HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE.

Mr. George S. Sherman of Portsmouth met with a serious and curious accident Saturday afternoon. He had filled his automobile tank with gasoline at the Standard Oil Company plant and was cranking his machine, preliminary to leaving, when it started forward and pinned him against a wall, where he remained until released by Mr. Davis, the company's agent, and others. It was seen that Mr. Sherman was in bad condition and hurry calls were sent for the ambulance and a doctor. It was found that Mr. Sherman had three ribs broken, his right arm broken and he was considerably cut up and cut in other places.

FIREMAN DEAD UNDER BOILER.

Chicago Limited Crashes into Buckled Freight Near Valencia, Pa.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—One man was killed, five others seriously injured and many passengers badly shaken up when train No. 5, known as the Chicago Limited, on the Pittsburg & Western branch of the Baltimore & Ohio road, crashed into a "buckled" freight train near Valencia, Pa., about 20 miles north of here, early today. G. L. Spidell, fireman of the passenger train, was caught under the boiler and killed. The injured included three passengers and two trainmen.

The wreck was due to the breaking of a long freight train on the grade near the scene of the accident. One of the cars on the end of the rear part of the disconnected freight lurched out over the north-bound tracks just as the Limited came along.

CAR SMASHED TO SPLINTERS.

Occupants of Brooklyn Automobile Have Sad Ending to Joy Ride.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—An all-night joy ride in a borrowed automobile came to a disastrous end early today, when the big touring car carried from its home in Brooklyn, tore through an iron fence and plunged into a deep cut, where the Long Island railroad enters the tunnel at Atlantic avenue. One of the four passengers was probably fatally hurt, two others were badly injured and the machine was smashed to splinters. The chauffeur escaped without a scratch and fled, but he was quickly captured by the police.

The most seriously hurt is Bernard Swanick, a clerk, 20 years of age, of Glendale, Long Island. His skull was fractured and he was interally injured and there is practically no hope for his recovery. Fred Blackburn, a butcher of Glendale, suffered a concussion of the brain, and Louis Lefevre, a Glendale silk weaver, sustained a compound fracture. Charles Hohman, the chauffeur, who is under arrest, is a nephew of Mrs. J. Gascome, owner of the automobile.

The party had spent the night at Coney Island, and were returning home when the accident occurred.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN JAIL.

Bailey Charged with Two Murders and Assault with Intent to Kill.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 30.—William J. Bailey of Pawtucket was sentenced to a 25-year term in jail on indictments charging him with two murders, and assault with intent to kill, in the superior court today. The affair took place in Pawtucket June 19 of this year.

Attorney General William B. Greene, at the opening of the trial, said he would allow the prisoner to plead guilty to the charge of manslaughter, provided the court would give him a sentence of not less than 25 years. The plea was entered, and Bailey was given ten years for shooting West Howarth, a watchman; ten years for the killing of William Gammell, a policeman, and five years for assault with intent to kill Frank Butman, a policeman.

BOSTON'S NEW TUNNEL OPEN.

Washington Street Bore a Masterpiece of Construction.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—Starting from the two opposite terminals of the elevated system at Dudley street and Sullivan square at 5:24 o'clock this morning, two trains entered the approaches of the new Washington street tunnel, proceeding in opposite directions, formally opening the underground thoroughfare to regular traffic. Following the first trains a schedule of one train every five minutes was followed in each direction until the rush hours, when the trains left Dudley street and Sullivan square at two-minute intervals.

The Washington street tunnel is one of the most expensive stretches of underground systems in the world. Extending from Oak street in the South End of the city to Haymarket square, a distance of but 6,140 feet, it cost nearly $10,960,000 to complete the excavation, construction and equipment. The work is understood to be a masterpiece of its kind. The new tunnel was planned chiefly to relieve the congestion of Washington street, the principal business thoroughfare of the city, under which it passes. Motive power is supplied by the third-rail system.

Three Men Charged with Burglary and Grand Larceny in Albany.

ALBANY, Nov. 30.—Abel Fuller and George Rogers, two of a trio arrested last night in the act of robbing the clothing store of William H. Butler, on Broadway, were identified today as convicts from Sing Sing prison, who escaped last Saturday during the heavy fog. When arrested last night the men gave the names of John Stewart of Buffalo, George Murphy of Boston and James Mahar, also of Boston. In examining their discarded clothing the police found numbers similar to those by which state prisoners are designated.

The state prison authorities were notified today, and Chief Clerk Charles K. Baker went to police headquarters with photographs of the convicts, and identified Mahar as Rogers and Murphy as Fuller. Stewart's identity is not known. The police say that Rogers's correct name is George Germaine, and that he is a former Albanyan. The three men were arraigned today, charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Adlai E. Stevenson to Ask Legislative Recount for Governorship.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Adlai E. Stevenson, following an informal canvass of contest data days after the election on November 3, is preparing to call a legislative recount of the votes cast for Lincoln and Charles S. Deneen for the governorship of Illinois. The Democratic candidate says he received a plurality of the votes cast at the recent election. Chairman Boyle of the state committee last night said: "We should not be performing our duty were we not to make public the urgency which has come to us since election day. It is testimony which will convince the legislature that thousands of votes were wrongfully counted for Deneen which should have been counted for Stevenson."

The official canvass gave Deneen 59,161 plurality.

Two Trains Smash into Each Other in Tube Under Hudson River.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Two trains smashed into each other in the tube under the Hudson river today, but, fortunately, no one was injured. There were passengers in one train, but the other was a string of empty cars on the way over from New York to Hoboken for the early rush of New Jersey commuters to business in this city. While no one suffered any serious injury, every one on board received a severe shaking up. The steel cars comprising both trains stood the test of the collision perfectly.

The "dead" train had started up an incline when a danger signal was displayed. The air brakes failed to hold the train on the heavy grade, and it slid back about 600 feet and crashed into the train which was following. Traffic under the river was delayed about half an hour by the accident.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Report of Appropriations Submitted to War Department.

Since Work Has Progressed, Number and Size of Vessels Using it Have Greatly Increased.

The annual report of Colonel W. L. Marshall, chief of engineers, U. S. A., recently submitted to the War Department has the following regarding the harbor improvements at Newport:

This harbor is at the main entrance to Narragansett bay, and all the year it serves as an easily accessible harbor of refuge to foreign and coastwise commerce.

Before improvement the capacity of the inner harbor was limited by shoals, and it was not adequate to the number and size of the vessels seeking it for refuge. The southern or main entrance was obstructed by a bar which stretched out from Goat Island and the northern entrance by a sharp, rocky spit near Rose Island, and the general business wharves of the city could not be reached at low tide by vessels drawing more than 8 feet. The mean tidal range is about 7.75 feet. Between 1871 and 1875, $28,700 was appropriated to secure 12 feet depth in the harbor. This work was completed in 1876.

The approved project, adopted in 1880 and modified in 1882, 1883, 1884, 1890 and 1895, provided for widening and deepening of the channel from Narragansett bay into Newport, so as to secure 15 feet depth at mean low water with at least 750 feet width for the extension of the 13-foot depth anchorage basins, and for dredging a channel 10 feet deep along the state harbor line southward to opposite the gas company's wharf; for the partial cutting off of the shoal spit at the southern end of Goat Island, and for the construction of jetties on the western shore of Goat Island, so as to protect the end of this island from erosion and to prevent the drift of sand, etc., around the island into the adjacent parts of the harbor and channel, and for the removal of Spindle rock, a sharp, rocky spit near Rose Island; all at a total cost estimated in 1895 at $206,200.

The amount expended on the original and modified projects prior to operations under the existing project was $241,855.05, by which the projected work was completed.

The existing project, adopted by the river and harbor act of March 2, 1907, provides for dredging a channel 750 feet wide and 18 feet deep at mean low water around the southerly end of Gigat Island and northward through the harbor, in accordance with House Document No. 121 Fifty-eighth Congress, second session, and for the extension of the 13-foot anchorage area southward to the harbor line and the removal of Nourmahal rock in Brenton Cove off the Fort Adams shore, to a depth of 18 feet, in accordance with House Document No. 428, Fifty-ninth Congress, second session, at a total estimated cost of $250,000, of which $85,000 was appropriated by the act of March 2, 1907, and $112,100 by the sundry civil act of May 27, 1908, leaving a balance to be appropriated of $52,900. The work is carried on under a continuing contract.

The amount expended on the existing project up to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, was $76,067.50, by which the channel 750 feet wide and 18 feet deep through the harbor was completed and the removal of Nourmahal rock and the enlargement of the 13-foot anchorage area were commenced.

It is proposed to apply the existing balance and the amount estimated for profitable expenditure for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, to enlarging the 13-foot anchorage area in the southern part of the harbor, and the removal of Nourmahal rock.

The expenditure for the 18-foot channel is for new work and is to make that portion of the harbor available for that depth; the remainder of the proposed expenditures are for the extension of benefit already secured.

As the improvement of this harbor has progressed there has been a large increase in the size and number of vessels using it. It has become an important port of call for orders for the large coaling fleet of not only Narragansett bay, but of the more eastern ports, and is the port of refuge for the fishing fleet as well as for landing and reshipment of the fish when the schools come upon this coast. At times the harbor is greatly crowded and a strong demand is made for a greater depth of water. The commerce for 1907 shows a tonnage of about 1,106,590 tons, principally fish, coal, and general merchandise. This includes freight passing through the harbor but destined for other ports.

The following is the report of appropriations, expenditure and estimates of the work during the year

July 1, 1907, balance unexpended,	$84,755.88
Amount appropriated by sundry civil act approved May 27, 1908,	112,100.00

June 30, 1908, amount expended during fiscal year for works of improvement,	76,055.18

July 1, 1908, outstanding liabilities,	20,783.76
July 1, 1908, balance available,	99,409.94
July 1, 1908, amount covered by uncompleted contracts,	30,620.62
Amount (estimated) required for completion of existing project,	58,500.00
Amount that can be profitably expended in fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, for works of improvement, in addition to the balance unexpended July 1, 1908,	32,500.00

Submitted in compliance with requirements of sundry civil act of June 4, 1897.

NECESSITY OF A GOOD PUBLIC OPINION.

[James Russell Lowell.]

All free governments, whatever their name, are in reality governments by public opinion, and it is on the quality of this public opinion that their prosperity depends. It is, therefore, their best duty to purify the element from which they draw the breath of life.

[George S. Hillard.]

We will not think of failure, disaster and despair. We will elevate our minds to the contemplation of our high duties, and the great trust committed to us. We will resolve to lay the foundations of our prosperity on that rock of private virtue which cannot be shaken until the laws of the moral world are reversed.

[Joseph H. Choate.]

If our institutions and liberties are worth saving, they can only be saved by eternal vigilance and action on the part of those whose education and interest in the public welfare qualify them to take part in the public questions on which it depends.

COURT APPROVES MASTER'S FEE.

Hearing on Affairs of Nautical Preparatory School—Requests for Instructions.

The case of the Nautical Preparatory School, which went into the hands of a receiver several years ago under the position of George H. Newhall, was before Presiding Justice Sweetland of the superior court for a hearing on the question of the allowance of the fees charged by the master, and upon the petition of the receiver for instructions as to his duty in regard to making objections to certain matters in the master's report recently filed. The court allowed the master the sum charged for his services, which was $7,500. The hearing was concluded yesterday afternoon on the receiver's petition for instructions.

The Nautical Preparatory School was a venture said to have been founded upon the ideas set forth in one of Oliver Optic's books. Patrons from all over the world sent their sons to take part in the instruction that was promised in an extended cruise on board the steamship Pennsylvania, which was fitted up for the purpose. When everything was ready the anchor was weighed and the cruise that had been so widely advertised extended down the bay about as far as Hyannis.

The vessel returned to Providence and financial troubles landed the management in the courts. George H. Newhall was appointed receiver and under a decree entered in the appellate division of the supreme court January 23, 1895, Richard E. Lyman, as master, began the labor of trying to straighten out the claims against the concern.

According to his report the total amount of the claims was $295,744.98. The property that came into the hands of the receiver amounted to about $46,603. The master's report gives a summary of the claims as follows:

Specific funds designated:
Patrons,	$25,007.40
James Reilly Repair and Supply Company,	3,552.47
Bramhall Deane Company,	71.15
American Laundry Machine Company,	276.72
Total,	$30,107.74
General creditors:
Patrons,	$124,157.00
James Reilly Repair and Supply Company,	3,731.76
Berwind White Coal Mining Company,	11,257.15
Bramhall Deane Company,	2,130.61
Bondholders,	92,877.97
International Mercantile Marine Company,	7,896.25
Members of the faculty,	19,068.61
Sundry claimants,	4,788.15
Total,	$295,744.98

City Solicitor Albert A. Baker and Irving O. Hunt represented the bulk of the patrons in the litigation. Mr. Baker said he disliked to make any protest against the amount charged for his services by the master in view of the great complexity of the work that had to be done. Yet it was somewhat in the nature of a wholesale job, extending over a period of years, and possibly the rates might be made easier. He suggested that $6,000 would be a fair sum. General Charles A. Wilson, counsel for New York parties, who had furnished most of the supplies for the ship, Frank L. Hinckley, Frank Healy and William H. Thornley, representing various claimants, spoke concerning the master's fee.

The court said: "In consideration of what you have said, and in view of what I know of the arduous nature of the work. I cannot say that the amount the receiver has charged is unreasonable, and I will allow his charge to stand."

Seeber Edwards of Edwards & Angell, counsel for the receiver, read a petition asking the court for instructions in regard to making objection to or taking an appeal from the report of the master in so far as the findings in that report give preferences to certain creditors. It was pointed out that a great many people had been separated from their money and that the interest in the assets was very keen.

William H. Thornley, counsel for the faculty, intimated that he desired to contest the report of the master, and the question arose whether the expense of future litigation should be borne by the creditors as a whole or by only those who desired that an appeal should be taken.

Some of the attorneys argued that by far the greater number of the claimants were content to allow the report of the master to stand, and that it would not be an equitable proceeding to carry on the litigation indefinitely to satisfy the few at the expense of the many.

Others argued that if the report was upset and preferred claimants were compelled to forego their advantages, all the creditors would profit thereby and should share in the expense.

According to the estimate of Seeber Edwards, counsel for the receiver, parties representing about $155,600 of the total claims of over $295,000 desired that exceptions be taken to the report.

The hearing was concluded yesterday afternoon and Judge Sweetland asked that the attorneys interested file authorities within one week upon the legal points raised.

MAY RE-ORGANIZE THE SENATE.

Movement on Foot for Its Enlargement Among Some Republicans in Assembly.

[Providence Journal.]

A movement is on foot among some of the Republican members of the General Assembly looking to an agitation of the question of reorganizing the senate at the coming session. No definite plan has yet been outlined. It is understood, but the matter has been discussed informally among some of the Providence members-elect, and it is not unlikely that a resolution may be drawn and presented to the legislature proposing a constitutional amendment in this connection.

The idea of those who are talking of this project is understood to have sprung from the feeling entertained by a large element among the citizens of Providence that this city should have a representation in the senate more in proportion to its population as compared with the smaller towns of the state.

There is evidence that the organization of the House in the next Congress will be marked by a determined effort to change the present rules, which are generally regarded as giving too much authority and responsibility to the Speaker. There is little likelihood that Mr. Cannon will be strongly opposed for election as Speaker, but there is a strong possibility that his autocratic authority will be curtailed. In so far as the rules are concerned, Speaker Cannon has pointed out on more than one occasion that the majority makes the rules, and if real dissatisfaction with the manner in which legislation in the House is conducted existed the majority possessed ample power to alter them. The majority members will probably now take him at his word.

The project, if it is undertaken, will probably not follow the lines laid down in the resolution introduced by Senator Rathbone Gardner at the last session, which contemplated the division of the state into 20 senatorial districts, a number less than the number of cities and towns. It is recognized by those who are considering this matter that the opposition of the towns to losing their individuality in the senate under such an arrangement would probably prove an insurmountable obstacle to the success of any such undertaking.

The suggestion that has been made in lieu of this is to draft a resolution something after the style of the proposition for re-organizing the house, incorporating a provision that each town and city shall have at least one senator, but constituting a body large enough to admit of more than one from the cities and perhaps the larger towns.

The matter has not yet been gone into far enough to afford any definite idea of how large a senate it may be proposed to substitute for the present organization. The only suggestion in this line has been that, as the senate is at present approximately one-half the size of the house, a senate of 50 members instead of 38 might conform acceptably to the proposed new house of 100, with perhaps three or four from Providence, three from Pawtucket and two from the other cities and a few of the larger towns.

TO PROTECT NETHERLANDS.

Treaty and Alliance with Great Britain Said to Be Forthcoming.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Pall Mall Gazette announces a forthcoming treaty and alliance between Great Britain and Holland, and predicts that other governments will soon arrange treaties for the protection of the Netherlands. If this is true, it is another step in the diplomatic isolation of Germany. The possibility that Germany might acquire Holland has long been regarded as a menace in England.

ARBITRATION TREATY ADOPTED.

Minister Van Swenderin, at The Hague, Speaks Highly of Root.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 30.—The second chamber of parliament today adopted the arbitration treaty between Holland and the United States. During the debate Foreign Minister Van Swenderin spoke highly of Secretary Root. This treaty is similar to those which the United States has concluded recently with a number of foreign countries.

EMPEROR PLEADS FOR HARMONY.

Places Dependence on Stalwart Qualities of Bulgarian People.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 30.—Emperor Ferdinand granted an audience last evening to a deputation from the Sobranje or national assembly. The emperor pleaded for harmony between the nation and the crown, and said he was proud, after long centuries, to restore the broken chain of the Bulgarian czars. He placed his dependence, he said, upon the Stalwart national qualities of the Bulgarian people in times of stress.

After the meeting there was a banquet, at which the healths of Emperor Ferdinand and Crown Prince Boris were drunk. In spite of rumors that he has suffered a breakdown, the health of Emperor Ferdinand is excellent.

Chinese Ruler Approves Reform Program Already Announced.

PEKIN, Nov. 30.—An edict of amnesty is to be issued by the crown next Wednesday. It approves the program of reform already announced, but does not otherwise define the policy of the new regime.

Reformers previously banished from the empire will not benefit by the new decree.

MORSE TO LOOK UP RECORDS.

Then Examination of Whitney & Kitchen Case Will Be Resumed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The office of the Tombs prison was transformed into a court room for a brief period today, when Charles W. Morse, who was convicted on charges of violation of the national banking laws while an officer of the National Bank of North America, was there produced before Referee Edward G. Whitaker on a writ of habeas corpus, to testify in the case of the failed stock brokerage firm of Whitney & Kitchen. It is said that Morse owes the firm $22,000. The examination was adjourned until Saturday, to give Morse an opportunity to look over his records in regard to his transactions with the firm.

WAGES CANNOT BE GARNISHED.

Supreme Court Upholds Hawaiian Judgment in Seaman's Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The question whether the wages of a seaman can be garnished was decided today in the negative by the Supreme Court of the United States in connection with the case of James L. Holt, tax assessor and collector for the first taxation division of Hawaii, vs. the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company. Holt sought to attach the wages of a seaman named Tullett, who was in the employ of the Navigation company. The Hawaiian court held that under the law this could not be done, and the Supreme Court affirmed that judgment, the opinion being by Justice Day.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—Gunboat Ranger, which has been turned over to the state of Massachusetts as a nautical training ship, in place of the Enterprise, arrived today from the Philippines, her last stop being at Bermuda. The Ranger will undergo extensive repairs before she goes into commission as a state boat.

SECRETARY ROOT UNDECIDED.

Thinks Duties Will Not Interfere with Position As Head of Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Root said today he has not definitely decided whether he will head President Roosevelt's proposed voluntary commission for the re-organization of the navy. He declares that he will have to determine for himself whether anything will be accomplished by such a commission in the short time left in the present administration. He is of the opinion that his duties in the State Department will not interfere with him serving on the proposed commission.

Lafayette Trust Company in Charge of Superintendent of Banks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The Lafayette Trust Company, a re-organization of the Jenkins Trust Company of Brooklyn, which went down in the financial panic of a year ago, did not open for business today. Instead, there appeared on the doors of the bank a brief formal statement, confirming an [illegible] Superintendent of Banks appointed A. R. Alford, an examiner of the department, and H. A. Dachnoski, President of the Lafayette Trust Company, special deputies to proceed with the liquidation of the company.

PAPERS ARE IN SWITZERLAND.

Paris Journal Insists Faure Was Victim of a Political Murder.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The Libre Parole, an anti-Semitic journal, is still keeping up the cry that Felix Faure, who died in this city in 1899, was a victim of a political murder, because he intended to refuse the request for a re-trial of the Dreyfus case. It claims now that Adolphe Steinheil, who was found dead in his residence in Paris last May, was murdered with the connivance of his wife, and the political police. The object of the crime was to obtain possession of certain letters written by M. Faure, which, the paper alleges, compromise men now active in public life.

The Libre Parole says that Steinheil was fully conversant with his wife's manner of life, and that he had possession of papers for which he demanded $200,000. This sum was considered exorbitant, and consequently an arrangement was perfected with Mme. Steinheil to burglarize the house, she to take advantage of the occasion to rid herself of her husband. The paper gives the name of the detective who, it is alleged, directed the operation, and it declares that the name of the actual assassin has been disclosed by Mariette Wolff, who was a cook in the service of Mme. Steinheil. No documents were found, however, as Steinheil had confided them to the keeping of a friend. The whole house was ransacked, only to find that the papers had been removed to Switzerland.

TROOPS READY FOR EMERGENCY

Perth Amboy Striking Clay Workers Do Not Respond to Whistles.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 30.—Keasby's striking clay workers made no response today when the whistles blew calling the men to work in the plants of the National Fireproofing Company there. The night had passed in perfect quiet, so far as any demonstrations against the company or militiamen were concerned, and there was some hope of a sufficient number of workmen returning this morning to enable the factories to start up. About 150 soldiers remain on guard, and it is said that a company is kept under arms in Elizabeth for any emergency which may arise.

About 250 employes of the Lorillard clay plant in Keysport were induced to join in the strike today.

TIME MAY BE EXTENDED.

Tariff Committee Wish All Witnesses to Have Equal Opportunity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Among those who have followed closely the tariff hearings before the ways and means committee of the House an impression prevails that Representative Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the committee, will find it impossible to resist the requests for an extension of the time for witnesses to be heard on the proposed revision of the tariff. It is asserted that not sufficient notice was given by the chairman to permit those interested to gather pertinent facts in regard to the schedules in which they desired changes. This was emphasized at the hearings last week, nearly all of which required sessions until midnight.

Mr. Payne also has been asked to extend the time in which it will be possible to file briefs, the date originally set as the limit being Friday next, when some witnesses who were not allowed much time to address the committee will be heard again. The chairman of the committee and those whose sincerity with regard to the revision of the tariff has been questioned, are desirous of dispelling any impression that all witnesses will not be given an equal opportunity to be heard.

Today the committee held a hearing on the schedule for flax, hemp and jute, but this was not expected to arouse much interest, nor were many requests for changes looked for. Tomorrow cotton and silks will be considered, and Thursday the tariff on wool will be the subject for discussion. Both of these hearings will be of importance in illustrating the general desire with regard to tariff revision.

TO FILL NEWBERRY'S PLACE.

H. L. Satterlee Offered Position of Assistant Secretary of Navy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Herbert L. Satterlee of New York, it is understood, has been offered the position of Secretary of the Navy, to take the place of Truman H. Newberry, who tomorrow becomes Secretary of the Navy, succeeding Victor H. Metcalf, whose resignation becomes effective then.

FALL RIVER MILL ADDITION.

American Linen Company's Plant Will Have 101,000 Spindles.

FALL RIVER, Nov. 30.—The American Linen Company has accepted plans for an addition to its plant which will be equivalent to a 10,000 spindle mill. The cost is estimated at $200,000. This will be taken from the surplus reported to stockholders at the last annual meeting. The plant will contain about 101,000 spindles.

THE ARTICLES OF DECLARATION.

Secretary Root and Ambassador Takahira Exchange of Jajan Notes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Root and Ambassador Takahira of Japan exchanged notes this afternoon at the State Department covering the declaration of five articles which are to govern their policy in China and the Pacific, a full purport of which has been set forth in Associated Press despatches. A final meeting between Mr. Root and Mr. Takahira preliminary to the signing of the note was held in the forenoon, when the matter was gone over finally. The articles will be given to the press for publication Wednesday.

The newspaper publications show that there is still some real misconception of the attitude of the two countries, and for this reason Secretary Root says the exchange of notes is useful.

STRUGGLE MERELY POSTPONED.

Russ Says America and Japan Prefer Poor Peace to Good Quarrel.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—An article published today in the Russ, a paper which has continually preached war between the United States and Japan strikes the only discordant note in the Russian press comment on the recent agreement between the two countries would be unwhich, among other things, guarantees the integrity of China. This agreement, according to the Russ, merely postpones the inevitable struggle until the end of William H. Taft's term of office. The two nations have decided that a poor peace is better than a good quarrel. American fortifications on the Pacific are not yet completed, and Japan is in financial straits. The outcome of a naval conflict today between the two countries would be uncertain, but, under cover of this new agreement, each will push its war preparations to completion.

Boston Young Men's Christian Association Buildings Enlarged.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—The Boston Young Men's Christian Association this afternoon threw open to public inspection the additions to its buildings on Berkeley street which have recently been completed at a cost of about $123,000. A seven-story ell has been added to the main building, which will enable the housing of several departments which have been in rented structures. The principal department thus cared for is the school of domestic science. The gymnasium has been enlarged and an assembly hall provided. Formal exercises in recognition of the enlargement of the plant will be held this evening.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30, Wall Street—The stock market opened firm, with Amalgamated Copper at 85¾, American Smelting 93⅝, American Locomotive 56¾, Anaconda 51½, Atchison 98¼, Baltimore & Ohio 108¾, Brooklyn Transit 55⅞, Canadian Pacific 175¼, Chesapeake & Ohio 48¼, Erie 33½, Great Northern preferred 141, Great Northern Ore 73⅜, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 38½, Consolidated Gas 162½, National Lead 83¾, New York Central 116⅝, Northern Pacific 143¼, Pennsylvania 130½, Reading 110½, Rock Island 23⅜, St. Paul 150½ to 150⅞, Southern Pacific 19½, Union Pacific 184⅝, United States Steel 56⅝, United States Steel preferred 113 and Wabash preferred 35½.

10—The opening dealings in stocks were not on a large scale, and the prevailing gains were narrow for the most part. There was a rise of 1¾ in Toledo, St. Louis & Western preferred, of a point in St. Paul and Rock Island preferred, and of ¾ in Reading and Kansas & Texas.

11—The prominent stocks failed to benefit from the advance in St. Paul and a number of minor stocks, and their persistent sagging eventually forced the whole list downwards. Practically all the important stocks fell well below Saturday's close on the reaction. A rebound in St. Paul to the top rallied the market.

Noon—Money on call, steady, at 1¾ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 3¾ to 4½ per cent. A spurt of 1¾ in New York Central failed to hold the General list. Persistent selling of United States Steel down to 55½ was a depressing influence. At noon the tone became firmer again. Bonds were easy.

MIDDLETOWN.

Sunday Services at the Berkeley and Methodist Churches—Miscellaneous News.

(Regular correspondence to the News.)

Yesterday, being the first Sunday in Advent was observed at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel by a special sermon on "Judgment," by Rev. Latta Griswold, from Deuteronomy IV:9: "Only take heed to thyself and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen and lest they depart from thine heart." It is customary in this church to take up during Advent the four topics: "Heaven, Hell, Death and Judgment." Today, St. Andrew's Day, was observed by a celebration of the Holy Communion at the morning service.

Rev. H. H. Critchlow has been considering during the past few Sunday evenings the prominent characters of the Old Testament. Last evening was devoted to the character and personality of Joshua, who succeeded Moses as a leader of the people of Israel. His line of work was followed on a large map of Palestine and the Holy Land.

The Arbor Day tree, which was planted last spring at the junction of Berkeley avenue and Wyatt road by the Wyatt school children, and which was removed during the recent alterations in the repair of the road, has been set out once more. It was formerly on an elevated triangular plot of ground, which has now been removed and the ground levelled.

Domingo Ross, a Portuguese, one of the hired men employed for many years by the last Mr. Arthur L. Peckham, who has since been working for Mr. Julian Peckham on the same farm, fell last week from a tree which he was cutting, and was taken up bleeding profusely. He was rendered unconscious for a number of hours and was carried to the Newport Hospital, where he was operated on yesterday. There is about an even chance of his recovery.

Through the invitation of Mrs. Mary W. Lawton, a number of guests assembled at "Rose Lawn," East Main road, last evening, to observe the birthday of her father, Mr. William Wyatt Peckham. The affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Peckham, who greatly enjoyed the occasion. Light refreshments were served. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cole and Mr. Harry Alger of Newport; Mrs. Lawton's twin sister, Mrs. Alvin P. Smith, and family; Mrs. Sarah Smith and Miss E. Lillian Smith of Middletown, and Mr. Walter G. Taylor of the Rhode Island Agricultural College at Kingston. Mr. Taylor returned to Kingston this morning.

The five schools of the town reopened today, after a week's vacation. M. 4.

Mr. Benjamin Caswell, who has been seriously ill, is reported as more comfortable.

An uncommon sight in these days is a large flock of Guinea hens, which are roosting at night in a high tree near the town house. Turkeys have become almost extinct on the island, where many were formerly seen, and the Guinea hens seem likely to follow, as comparatively few are now seen. The days of sheep raising seem passing, also, in this locality.

The trustees of the Newport First Beach Land Company have sold lot 333, fronting on the southerly side of Seascape avenue and the corner of St. George's avenue, containing 7,331 square feet, to R. W. Foster. W. Hollis has bought lot 269, on the easterly side of Allston avenue, having a frontage of 75 feet, a depth of 116 feet, and containing 8,721 square feet.

Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal Church there will be an organ recital by Mr. C. LeRoy Grinnell of Providence, with readings by Mr. F. P. Webber of Newport, the program being as follows:

War March of the Priests, Mendelssohn
Evening Song. Schumann
Recitation,

THE STRONG WANITAS.

The basket ball game between the Naval Reserves and the Wanitas of New York promises to be an interesting contest as the visitors have made a fine record this season and at present the local team is playing fast basket ball. Suits and W. Lamb, the two guards of the Wanitas, have played at the armory before and shown themselves to be fast players, and should give Harvey and Roach as good a game as these players will meet this season. Carney and Stoddock, the forwards, are former Knickerbocker players and are capable of playing a hard game. Fiske is a former college player and is supposed to be a fast man. With this team against them, the Reserves must play a fast game to land a victory. Following is the line-up of the teams:

Wanitas—Carney, r. f.; Stoddock, l. f.; Fiske, c.; W. Lamb, r. g.; Suits, l. g.
Reserves—Roach, r. f.; Harvey, l. f.; McMahon, c.; Dunn, r. g.; Shea, l. g.

FLEET HOMEWARD BOUND.

After Leaving Manila, Battleships Will Steam Direct to Colombo, Ceylon.

Flying the homeward bound pennant the Yankton steamed out of Manila bay yesterday, preceding the Atlantic battleship fleet to Singapore. Rear Admiral Sperry has issued orders for the fleet to leave at 8 o'clock Tuesday.

The Vermont has taken on extra ammunition for drill in firing at a moving target on the battle ranges, an innovation in the American naval service. All marines have been detached from the Connecticut and Vermont. An extensive exchange of officers between the Atlantic and Pacific fleets has been cabled by the Navy Department. Monitors Monterey and Monadnock, now in ordinary at Olongapo, have been ordered placed in reserve, with half crews drawn from the Atlantic fleet.

When the fleet leaves Manila, homeward bound, December 1, the battleships will steam direct to Colombo, Ceylon, where they are due about December 15. The next stop will be at Suez, where they will take on coal. The vessels are scheduled to arrive at the canal January 5, and as soon as the bunkers are filled the fleet will divide into small squadrons for visits to several Mediterranean ports. These visits will include Athens, Tripoli, Villefranche, Marseilles, Naples, Malta, Leghorn, Genoa and Algiers. The fleet will reassemble at Gibraltar early in February, steaming February 6 for the last leg of its 42,220 mile cruise.

The newly created third squadron of Rear Admiral Conway H. Arnold, on battleship Maine, will steam from its home ports to meet the homecoming vessels in the Eastern Atlantic. Rear Admiral Arnold's squadron includes battleship Maine, New Hampshire, Idaho and Mississippi, and armored cruisers Montana and North Carolina, so in all 22 magnificent war ships will be welcomed in Hampton Roads February 22.

Hospital ship Relief will be placed out of commission at Cavite as the result of her recent experience, which has proved her unfitness for a seagoing cruise. Surgeon Stokes has been ordered to return home and will depart on the Siberia December 1. Six lieutenant commanders have just been ordered transfered to the Pacific fleet.

This, the last day of the fleet's stay, was one of brilliant sunshine. The usual quota of men were landed Sunday and although the weather was threatening but with little rain. The men spent the day roaming about the city and suburbs. The free trolleys were patronized extensively. The old walls of Manila attracted hundreds, many making the circuit of them, commenting on the forts, bastions and sally ports. This afternoon there was a baseball game between navy and army teams, and a wrestling match, Charlesworth, of battleship Georgia, who was defeated by Carlson, the army hospital corps champion, two days ago, winning over Louis Hess of the Philippine squadron. This gives Charlesworth the championship of the navy and $1,000.

The reception to the officers at the Tabacalera factory yesterday afternoon was a brilliant event, and was the first affair that Rear Admiral Sperry has attended. Hundreds from the fleet, officers of the army, civil and church dignitaries and members of Filipino and Spanish societies were present. The magnificent building was decorated with the navy colors and emblems, and the huge lower floor was covered with special canvas for dancing, painted in the corners with navy medallions; around the walls were the names of the battleships and portraits of the rear admirals. The whole front of the structure was a mass of electric bulbs, forming the words, "Welcome to the Fleet." The constabulary band of 50 pieces furnished music. Refreshments and wine were served. The American officers had a vision of the most beautiful Spanish and Mestizo women and introductions and waltzes followed.

Today sports for the men were arranged at the Paray race track. There was also a reception to the officers at Germinal tobacco factory this afternoon, closing the entertainment. The reception to the officers at Schofield Hall, Fort McKinley, was in the nature of a farewell. The order is all on board tonight.

ROSE FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

The Block Island case against Addison Rose, for assault on Nicholas Trudeau at Block Island September 15 last, was finished in the district court about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Defendant was found guilty and sentenced to 30 days in the Providence county jail and to pay the costs, which are something like $45. He claimed an appeal. The other Block Island cases go over to December 4, when they will come up for reassignment.

W. H. LEAVITT ASKED TO MANAGE ART EXHIBITION

A Paris despatch says: "The Société des Beaux Arts is arranging a large collection of canvases by its members to be sent to America early in 1909 for exhibition at the principal cities. W. H. Leavitt, William Dunlap Bryant, formerly, has been asked to take charge of the exhibition and act as the American representative of the society. Mr. Leavitt, who is engaged on a large painting, "The Last Supper," for which prominent prelates and artists posed, has not yet accepted the offer. Mr. Leavitt has announced that he intends to live with his wife at Denver as soon as he finishes this painting."

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR ROGERS.

Cranston High School Team Defeated 12-0.

Newport Boys Played One of Fastest Games of Season, Rooney and Owens Doing Good Work.

In one of the fastest games of the season the Rogers High football team defeated Cranston High, 12-0, at the Civic League grounds Saturday. At the beginning of the first half it looked like an easy thing for Rogers, but as the game advanced Cranston's play improved, so that neither side was able to score in the second. Both teams used the forward pass with good effect, but the Newport boys excelled in this style of play, the combination of Rooney and Owens being a hard nut to crack.

It was one of these forward passes, coupled with 20 and 15-yard runs by Rooney and Merrill, which gave Rogers the first touchdown. The second was the result of hard work on the part of the back field. Eckert had a chance to shine in this game, for he had as his opponent Crandall of the all-Providence team. By the way things were going, it looked as though Eckert was giving the star a few points. Cranston's back field was also of the star order. When it was well under way it was difficult to stop, and it formed an interference difficult to break. However, after the Cranston backs had gone through the Rogers line for a few yards the defense usually tightened up, and the visitors were forced to punt. Jordan made some long punts, but they were usually returned for 10 or 15 yards, because of the locals' fine interference.

In the first half W. Schmidt caught Jordan's kick-off and advanced slightly. Freeman made but a small gain, but Rooney on the next play put the ball 20 yards nearer the visitors' goal. Rose went through for 8 yards, and Rooney made no gain because of a bad start. It was third down and but two yards to go, and Captain Fludder used Rose, who squirmed through for slightly more than the required distance. On attempting a quarterback run Fludder made no gain, but a forward pass to Owens was good for 20 yards. Merrill was brought around to put the ball 15 yards nearer the goal. After two more plays the ball was on Cranston's ½-yard line and on the next play Merrill was with difficulty pushed over for a touchdown. Rose kicked the goal.

Up to this time the visitors had not put up much of a game, but now they appeared to take a brace. Scattergood caught the kick-off, but made no material advance. On the third down Jordan punted to Rose, who was downed in his tracks. W. Schmidt made 5 yards, and Owens circled the right end for 20 more, but when Stevens attempted to go around the other end he was thrown with but a slight gain. Rogers made nothing on the next down.

Owens was called back to try to drop-kick a goal, but the pass was poor and he attempted to rush. Rogers did not make the distance, and Cranston received the ball. On the first play Scattergood broke away with a forward pass which resulted in 20 yards. Rooney broke the next play, and Cranston missed a forward pass immediately after. Jordan punted and the ball rolled around on the ground, until Eckert finally pounced on it for Rogers.

Rogers now began a series of plays which resulted in another touchdown. Rose plowed through for 6 yards. Cranston being offside Rogers received 5 more, and Rooney with the whole team hanging on him made first down again. Stevens coming around, intending to go around the end, spied a whole in the line and went through for ten yards. Freeman and Rose made small gains, and then Rooney squirmed and wriggled past all opposition for the touchdown.

The rest of the half was even for both sides, except that Owens made another forward pass, this time for 30 yards.

In the second half Rose booted the ball behind the goal posts for a touchback. On kicking again, Rose sent the ball to Jordan, who was downed by Owens. On the first play Scattergood made first down. Webb with a fine interference ran 8 yards. Scattergood made 8 more, but on the next play Merrill and Joe Schmidt put in some work and the result was that Webb was sulled for but one yard. W. Schmidt upset the next play, and Jordan punted to Rooney, who came back 15 yards. On the first play Rooney was pushed on for 5 yards. Freeman made 2, and Rose finished the ten yards. Rooney made 7, and Stevens pulled off a run of 15. Here a forward pass was lost, and a penalty of 15 yards occurred.

Pearce tackled Fludder for no gain almost before the quarterback was started. Owens failed to gain, and so was used to punt. Kelly carried the punt back of his goal posts for a touchback. Rose caught the punt and returned it, sending it outside. It was the visitors' ball. Scattergood made 5 yards, Rose finally stepping him. Jordan and Webb making but small gains, and Scattergood being thrown back for 9 yards loss. Jordan punted outside. Cranston recovered a fumble, but a poor decision gave the ball to Rogers again. Rooney made 16 yards. Owens fumbled, but Rooney secured the ball and advanced 12 yards before the Cranston quarterback finally stopped him. A forward pass was missed, and the ball was the visitors'. Here the game ended. The line-up and summary:

Cranston.		Rogers.
Bohl, r. e.		l. e., Owens
Allen, r. t.		l. t., Merrill
Perry, r. g.		l. g., J. Schmidt
Crandall, c.		c., Eckert

Kelly, q. b.		q. b., Fludder
Scattergood, r. h. b.,		l. h. b., Freeman
Webb, l. h. b.,		r. h. b., Rooney
Jordan, f. b.,		f. b., Rose

Score—Rogers 12, Cranston 0. Touchdowns—Merrill, Rooney. Goals from touchdowns—Rose 2. Referee—McLyman. Umpire—Collins. Field judge—Smith. Head linesmen—Carley. Assistants—Hanlon and Hazard. Timers—Smith, Tallman. Time—20 and 15-minute periods.

The Rovers defeated the All Stars Sunday, 11 to 0. The All Stars were made up of players picked from the other junior teams, but the Rovers proved too much for them, doing some fine team work and working in several cleverly executed forward passes for good gains. The All Stars were strong on the defense but week on offensive work. In the first half Williams scored a touchdown and in the last of the second half Dennis scored on a clever forward pass and kicked a goal. The work of Clancy, Crowell, Devlin, West and Williams, for the winners, and of Walsh, Murphy, Boyle and Ring for the All Stars, deserves special mention.

The Point Athletic team defeated the Brownies, 5 to 0, completely outplaying the Brownies but being unable to score more than once. In the second half little Johnnie Dwyer, of the Point team, while advancing the ball stepped into a concealed post hole and broke one leg, below the knee. The ambulance was called and the little fellow was taken to the Newport Hospital.

TIVERTON LICENSES.

Limit of Number Under New Law Leads to Doubling Up in Two Cases.

The police commissioners of Tiverton have granted the following licenses: Edward Brophy, 5 Shove street; John W. Cain, 117 State avenue; Joseph N. McClure, Stone Bridge hotel, Main road, corner Lawton avenue; O'Connell & Kerns, 87 Main road; St. Laurent & Simpson, 2 Rock street; Michael Tierney, 1 Shove street.

The full list of those who applied for licenses, which includes the above, is as follows: Thomas Beardsworth, 87 Main street; Edward Brophy, 5 Shove street; John W. Cain, 117 State avenue; Frank Carter, 34 Main street; Albert Doucet, 1 Bay street, corner State avenue; Horace Guimond, 133 State avenue; Samuel Hartley, 123 Canonicus street; James Hughes, 67 Main street, corner Canonicus; James Hughes, 155 State avenue; John J. Kearns, 9 Shove street; Joseph N. McClure, Main road, corner Lawton avenue; James O'Connell, 87 Main street; Samuel Pearson, 45 Shove street; William H. Pomfret, 29 Shove street; John Simpson, 2 Bay street; Zenon S. Laurent, 2 Rock street; Michael St. Pierre, 34 Main street, corner Walnut; Michael Tierney, 1 Shove street; James Sharples, 65 Main street, corner Canonicus street.

Druggist license—Roch Lavault, 7 Main street.

As only six licenses could be granted under the new law, there was a doubling up in two cases, St. Laurent & Simpson, who intend to do business at 2 Rock street, St. Laurent's stand, and O'Connell & Kearns, who will be at O'Connell's place, 87 Main road.

The applications of James Sharples and James Hughes were thrown out because they were within the school limit. Unless a transfer is made later, there will hereafter be no license near Sandy Beach.

WILL VOTE FOR THE BELLS.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

In reply to the article in your issue of November 28, signed "First Ward," I wish to state that there is one candidate for the Council from the First ward who is in favor of ringing the bells again. Like himself, and no doubt hundreds of others, I fully agree that we should have the bells ring at 7, 12 and 9, and if elected I promise to do all in my power to have them so rung.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WILLIAM ROACH.

Mr. William Roach died suddenly yesterday at his home on Johnson's court, from the effects of heart disease. He had attended mass at St. Joseph's Church and seemed to be about in his usual health when he dropped dead. He was one of the old-time Water Works men, having been employed on the works from the very start, and was regarded as a reliable man. The past summer he did not appear to be in his usual health and was not able to work as steadily as for years past, but no one expected such a sudden ending. He leaves a widow, four daughters and a son.

THE SAILOR FINED.

But the Gang of Young Fellows Who Provoked the Row Escaped Without Arrest.

A boy petty officer from the Training Station was fined Sunday for traveling in the police court, but a witness to a portion of the occurrence which resulted in his arrest says he was set upon by a number of young fellows on Broadway and did not seem to be the offending party.

About 11:15 Saturday night the sailor, hatless, came running down Washington square and announced that he was being mobbed. A crowd soon gathered about him and was swelled by people coming from the direction of Broadway. The sailor was in a highly excited state and soon ended out to one of the gathering who was crowding toward him that he "was one of them," and promptly delivered a blow which sent the newcomer to the ground. One or two others who had forced their way through the crowd were dealt blows which caused them to reel, before the major portion of the gathering had made up their minds as to the cause of the disturbance. As a policeman approached from Thames street some of the young men who had come from the direction of Broadway returned that way and the policeman took the sailor to the police station.

The witness above referred to says that half a dozen young fellows set upon the sailor on Broadway, opposite Weaver's, that the sailor handled himself well against the odds and put in some telling blows, and then seeing an opportunity started to run toward the square. At Farewell street he was overtaken and thrown to the ground, where he was punished at the hands of the gang, until he was able to gain his feet and break away, after which he made his appearance on the square.

A person whom the police interviewed says the trouble began on Spring street, where three sailors and a number of young fellows were talking loudly. Finally the larger sailor said he would teach them to insult the uniform and a mix-up followed. It is no new thing for a gang of young fellows who loaf about Broadway to make irritating and insulting remarks to passers-by.

The sailor paid his fine and expressed his satisfaction to the police that he had dealt out some punishment to the assailants before the police secured him.

PROGRESS ON PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The south half of the second floor of the new Mumford School building on Farewell street will be put on tomorrow and the north walls are nearly ready for the other half. The hard pine floor beams arrived yesterday, having been shipped from Providence last Tuesday, it taking the railroad company all that time to haul the stock that short distance. In consequence of the delay in the arrival of the heavy timber Contractor Nicol has been in fear that he would be obliged to lay off part of his gang.

At the Young Men's Christian Association the masons are still at work on the walls, which should not go up, if convenience is considered, until after the first floor is on, but because of the non-arrival of the iron there are no indications that the floor will be on at a very early date. The plumbers have begun the work of putting soil pipe in the pipe alleys and supplies for other piping are arriving on the ground.
